Abstract of the Disclosure:

An inking unit for a printing machine, which is assigned to a printing form, includes a first distributor roller and a second distributor roller, the first distributor roller being in rolling contact simultaneously with two ink applicator rollers, and being axially oscillatable more slowly and disposed more closely to the printing form than is the second distributor roller; and a printing machine including the inking unit.

HLL/vs